No. 57.

To the DAILY GAZETTEER.

SIR,

Was lately in a Coffee-House, where a Person who had been reading the Craftsman, laying it on the Table, said to one in his Company, whose Learning I perceived he had a good Opinion of, Was there ever such Stuff heard of among your Greeks and Romans?

THERE were, replied the other, such things among them as Falshood and Scandal; but they were in the Hands of the Libertines and Slaves, and made little or no Way among the Senators and Citizens. 'Twas then very rare to meet with a State Libel, creeping about in the Dark, the Author of it being sure upon Discovery, to be either gall'd to a Cross, or flung from the Tarpeian Rock. Neither Greeks nor Romans did understand that the Liberty of their Constitution gave the Factions and Seditious a Right to asperse the Magistrates, and expose the Administration to Hatred and Contempt. By Liberty, they understood nothing more than a free and equal Course of Justice, and a due Enjoyment of their Rights in their Persons and Goods. That Tongue had soon been cut out of its Mouth, and that Hand been lop'd off, which by speaking or writing had slander'd the Archons of Athens, or the Consuls of Rome, tho' it had been done in softer Terms, and on better Grounds than the Calumnies of our Craftsmen. The Athenians and Romans would not have suffered such Slanderers to have had the Benefit of breathing among them. How would they have dealt with Libellers that should have vilified their Arifides, their Cimon, Brutus, or Atticus, Grecian and Roman State-Whigs; or indeed their Agrippa, or Pulio, Court-Whigs in the Days of Augustus? How would they have stared, had they seen such a Debauchee as Petronius, though infinitely superior in Wit and Learning to our Mock-Patriot, set up for a Cato, and read Lectures of Publick Virtue and Spirit? There is no Imposture in Story so extravagant and ridiculous, as that of modern Patriotism. If our Posterity were to have no better Examples for Patriots, they would have no Notion of Liberty, nor be able to distinguish it from Slavery. They would not be sensible of their Happiness in being a Free-born People, nor look upon the old Lessons of Publick Spirit and Virtue, but as the Dreams of doating Philosophers, or the Rants of Madmen: There were Rascals and Idiots among the Ancients; but their Rascals did not pretend to be Numas, nor their Idiots Solons, as our Craftsmen do. There are Knaves and Fools in Theophrastus and other Classics; but there is a Frankness in the one, and a Simplicity in the other, which border as near to Honesty and Ingenuity, as any Vices can on their opposite Virtues. Their Knaves were avowed; their Fools made no Bustle with their Folly; and as wicked and as weak as they were, they scorn'd to impose themselves on the World for what they were not. The Penetration of those Times would, in a Moment, have detected such Cheats as our Craftsmen, and have fix'd the same Brand upon them as they did on their Thieves and Runaways.

He said much more on the same Subject, which I have forgot, and you'll allow my Memory to be pretty good, in bringing away so much as I did. As soon as I came Home, I turn'd to the Version of Theophrastus the Greek Author, mentioned by him. 'Tis printed with La Bruyere's Manners of the Age; and as one can never have enough of that admirable Treatise, I read Chapter or two, that by the Contrast of his true Characters, I might be confirm'd in my Abhorrence of the Craftsman's false ones. You know la Bruyere's way to rally the Follies and Vices of particular Persons and Customs, for the Improvement of Mankind in general, and to point his Paragraphs with a short Turn of Thought and Expression, which surprizes and strikes the Reader, and makes an Impression on his Mind stronger and deeper than formal, tedious Declamation. He was a religious Observer of Truth, and never prostituted the Smartness of his Wit to the vile Uses of Envy and Malice. The reading him, excited a Curiosity in me to see how two certain Characters of our Age and Nation would look in imitation of his Style in Painting. The Description is an exact Copy of the TRUTH; the Point at the End, an exact Copy of the Craftsman, the very Reverse of the Truth; which will serve a little to shew how monstrous and odious that Libeller and his Masters are, in all their Representations of Persons and Things.

The Characters of a False Patriot, and a True one, in imitation of La Bruyere and the Craftsman.

THE FALSE PATRIOT.

A Man was lewd, vain, arrogant, treacherous, corrupt. He lived in a Kingdom divided into Parties, and was by Turns of every one of them; restless and mischievous in all, without Morals, Sobriety, Discretion or Decency. He was in several State Employments rash, riotous, loose, and prodigal. He betray'd his Prince to a Competitor, and his Country to her Enemies. He broke thro' all Engagements Sacred and Civil, thro' all Oaths and Sacraments. He renounced his Duty to his Natural as well as Political Father, made a Jest of all the Obligations of Husband, Parent, Subject, Citizen, Friend; and hating and despising Religion and Virtue, the publick Good and Peace, was a PATRIOT.

THE TRUE PATRIOT.

A Man was wise, knowing, humane, worthy. He spent his whole Life in the Service of his Country; was faithful, expert, experienc'd, successful, neither aw'd by Faction, nor influenc'd by Power; zealous for the Interest and Glory of his Sovereign, and the Safety and Prosperity of the Commonwealth; strict in discharging all the Duties of natural and political Life, perpetually combating with, and victorious over Envy, unjust Clamour and Reproach, keeping always before him as his Point of View, the publick Peace, Welfare and Honour; more willing to hear the Counsel of others than to give his own, and always ready to pursue the best; never amused by Complaisance, nor discourag'd by Opposition; Cheerful, Open, and Upright in all his Actions: The same out of Employment as in; active, and watchful in what regarded the State and Liberty; superior alike to Disgrace and Dignity; a Pattern of Publick and Private Oeconomy: — He was a PLUNDERER.

Hanover, September 4. N. S.

THE King having laid aside all Thoughts of going to the Ghore this Summer, his Majesty has been pleas'd to direct that the 5 Squadrons of Horse and Dragoons, and the 5 Battalions of Foot, which he intended to have reviewed at that Place, should come into the Neighbourhood of this City; and Orders are dispatched to the several Officers to appear here with their Regiments on the 21st Instant, N. S. to be reviewed by his Majesty.

LONDON.

An Express is arrived from Hanover, with Letters from his Majesty, wherein he has been pleas'd to signify his Intention to set out from thence for Great Britain, about the 15th Instant our Style; so that if the Wind favours as well as the Moon, which will about that Time be advancing to its Full, we have Reason to hope, that this Majesty will be here a Week before Michaelmas.

The Bishop of Winchester, with his Family, did not arrive from Farnham at his House in Grosvenor's-street till last Night.

Edward Harley, Esq; whose Death was mentioned in our Paper of Monday last, not only sat in several Parliaments for the Borough of Leominster in Herefordshire, but was one of the Directors chose at the first Establishment of the South Sea Company, one of the Commissioners for building 50 new Churches, and had been, for above 32 Years, one of the Auditors of the Imprests, to which important Office he was preferred, upon the Death of Mr. Don in 1703, by the Lord Treasurer Godolphin, and is now succeeded in it by William Benson, Esq; late of Wilberry in the County of Wilts; to whom his late Majesty King George I. in Consideration of the many signal Services done by this Gentleman to the HANOVER Succession, and its Friends, both before, and after it took Place, was pleas'd to grant his Letters Patent for the Reversion of the first Office of either of the two Auditors of the Imprest that should become vacant.

Yesterday there was a General Council at Kensington.

His Majesty has been pleas'd to appoint George Shelly of Newark on Trent, Esq; to be Captain of a Company in the Right Hon. the Earl of Effingham's Regiment of Foot.

Yesterday Morning the Officers of his Majesty's Customs made a large Seizure of Tea, &c. at a House in Maife Pond in Southwark.

The same Day Mr. Neale, Scarlet Dyer in Gravel-lane, lay at the Point of Death.

This Day, after the Duke and Princess Amelia have hunted the Stag on Windsor Forest, they will dine at the Earl of Tankerville's Seat at Swinley.

All the Books of the Queen's Library for Merlin's Cave, being several hundred Volumes, are ordered to be bound in Vellom.

Dublin, Aug. 23. Last Night was Se'nnight, one Graham, a Youth about nineteen Years of Age, was married to Margaret Nowlan, a very agreeable Woman, who lives in Fleece-alley in Fishamble-street, aged about ninety Years, her youngest Child being upwards of fifty. It is said, the Night after their Nuptials, having a Dispute who should bear the Purse, they fell to Blows, when the Husband became Victor, which gave great Pleasure and Satisfaction to the Spectators, it not being supposed he wedded her so much for her Merit or Beauty as for her Fortune.

Last Tuesday in the Evening, Mr. White, a Skinner, Son to the Widow White in Twatling-street, was stabbed in the Belly with a Butcher's Knife in Castle-market, by one Grace Appleby, who used to carry a Basket in the said Market; of which he died on Thursday Morning. She was immediately secured, and committed to Newgate.

Thursday Night last, Skeffington Smyth, Esq; Son to the late Bishop of Down and Connor, was married to Miss Moore, a near Relation of the Earl of Drogheda, a Lady of great Merit, Beauty, and Fortune.

Edinburgh, Aug. 26. Last Week Archibald Cockburn of Cockpen, an eminent Merchant of this City, was married to Miss Dundas, Daughter to the late Lord Arncliffe, and Sister to the Hon. Robert Dundas, Esq; now of Arncliffe, a Lady of great Virtue and Merit, with a handsome Fortune.

Ipswich, Aug. 30. This Day Se'nnight died at Woodford in Essex, after a lingering Illness, the Hon. Mrs. Elizabeth Devereux, Wife of the Hon. Price Devereux, Esq; Knight of the Shire for the County of Montgomery, and only Son of the Lord Viscount Hereford. She was Daughter and sole Heir of Leicester

Martin

Martin of Chesham Church in this Town, Esq; by Anne his Wife, Sister and sole Heir to Edward Lord Viscount Hereford, who died 1700. She married Mr. Devereux 1720-1, but left no Issue; and last Wednesday her Corpse was carried through this Town, to be interred at Sudbourn near Orford, the Burying-place of the Ancient and Noble Family of the Herefords.

On Tuesday last at Southwaltham in Norfolk, a Seizure was made of 300 Weight of Tea, by Mr. Fuller, an Officer of Excise of Colchester in Essex, who, being assailed by 6 Dragoons, broke into the House where were 20 Smugglers drinking, but seeing themselves surrounded, made off, leaving 100 and half of Tea in a Hedge near the House, and a Gun loaded. I do not hear that any of the Smugglers were taken.

Notwich, Aug. 30. Last Tuesday being the annual Day of electing Sheriffs for this City and County, Mr. Alderman Wiggitt was chosen by the Freemen without Opposition; after which the Right Worshipful Mr. Mayor, and the Court, sent the Letter to Mr. Richard-Hampury, who were declared Sheriffs for the Year ensuing.

The same Day William Jermy, Esq; Son of Counsellor Jermy, was married at St. Luke's Chapel belonging to the Cathedral, to the Hon. Miss Richardson (Sister to the late Lord Richardson) an agreeable young Lady, with a large Fortune.

On Tuesday Morning early the Dragoons quartered in this City, went in Pursuit of some Smugglers; and about two in the Afternoon brought back with them several Bags of Tea, the whole about 336 lb. Weight.

Our Norwich Company of Comedians left this City on Thursday last, in order to perform at Swaffham for a fortnight, and no longer, being obliged to attend Holt Races on the 16th of September.

Yesterday a Company of strolling Gipsies (as they are called) were taken up at Rockland, near Attleburgh, and committed to Wyndham Bridewell, on Suspicion of Felony and other Frauds committed in the Country.

This Morning, between one and two o'Clock, one Mr. Martin of Pallham was robbed going into Woulton Common, near Long Stratton, by a Highwayman, who took from him 40 s. and made off.

Bristol, Aug. 28. The Money collected last Thursday among the Gentlemen of the Gloucestershire Society, amounted to 62 l. 9 s. 6 d. which, with what is further expected from several Gentlemen not present at the Feast, will make about 70 l. to be applied in putting out poor Orphans Apprentices.

During the last great Dearth of Corn, when many foreign Ships supply'd this Port with that Commodity, such Numbers of large Rats left those Vessels after their being unladed, that now they are become very numerous and troublesome, both to the Houses in this City, and the neighbouring Farms towards the River.

In the Storm on Sunday last, the Combe Pink, bound from Lisbon to Bristol, was forced on the Welsh Shore near Tenby, and lost, with all her Cargo; but the Master and Men were all saved.

Advertisement concerning this Book.

This Masterpiece of religious Policy was published, many Years since, in Latin, French, and Dutch: Mr. John Schipper, a Bookseller at Amsterdam, bought one of them at Antwerp, among other Books, and afterwards reprinted it. The Jesuits, being informed that he had purchased this Book, demanded it back from him; but he had then sent it to Holland. One of the Society, who lived at Amsterdam, hearing it said, soon after, to a Catholic Bookseller, by Name Van Eyke, that Schipper was printing a Book which concerned the Jesuits; replied, that if it was only The Rules of the Society, he should not be under any Concern; but desired he would inform himself what it was. Being told by the Bookseller, that it was The Secret Instructions of the Society, the good Father, shrugging up his Shoulders, and knitting his Brow, said, that he saw no other Remedy but denying that this Piece came from the Society. The Reverend Fathers however thought it more advisable to purchase the whole Edition, which they soon after did, some few Copies excepted; from one of these it was afterwards reprinted, with this Account prefixed; which is there said to be taken from two Roman Catholics, Men of Credit.

IX. A REPORT from the COMMITTEE appointed to inspect the Papers seized in the Houses or Lodgings of Mac Carthy, alias Rabah, a reputed Titular Popish Bishop; and Joseph Nayle, a reputed Popish Solicitor, both of the City of Cork.
